

MISSOURI HIGH SCHOOL JOURNALISM PROJECT

Teachers, are you looking to add to your existing journalism and strategic communication curriculum?

Here at the Missouri School of Journalism, we made it stress-free for you to refresh your curriculum with minimal advance preparation or research. The Missouri High School Journalism Project is a FREE 25-module curriculum designed and developed by the faculty of the School.

Each module states the learning objectives for activities and readings, and sets expectations. Plus, everything has been provided as a link to a Google doc, Google form, mp4 or jpeg/png file or a link to YouTube, making it easy to duplicate materials for use in your classroom.

Additionally, individual module landing pages set you up with an overview of the lesson's activities. These include:

- Complete lesson plan.
- "Do" activities.
- Worksheet, examples and answer keys to support activities.
- Readings and resources.
- Various types of formative assessment.
- A summative assessment at the end of each lesson in the form of a 10-question, multiple choice quiz with feedback on correct and incorrect answers.

Are YOU ready to start accessing these FREE lesson plans?

Register today!
<https://bit.ly/2lZJMvs>

Missouri School of Journalism
 University of Missouri

/mujschool

@mujschool

@mujschool

journalism.missouri.edu